The Daily Itinerary:

Saturday, Day 0:

leave N America on an Icelandair flight

Sunday; Day 1:

Welcome to Iceland

Early arrival in Iceland. You'll take the flybus to your hotel in Reykjavik, and have the day to explore. Lots of great places to eat, enjoy, relax.

Monday Day 2:

West Iceland to Akureyri

You'll set out after breakfast and head to West Iceland, to explore Hraunfossar waterfalls, Europe's most powerful hot spring and climb the extinct volcano Grábrók. Then it's further north a stop an excellent little museum – the Glaumbær Turf Farmstead, and then traveling along fjords and over mountains to Akureyri, where you'll be based for the next 5 nights.

Tuesday Day 3:

Akureyri and Hrísey Island option

Get to know the capital of North Iceland a bit with a city walk in the morning, and a visit to its excellent botanical garden. The rest of the day is free for hiking or other day tours around the town

Tour option: an afternoon excursion by bus & ferry to Hrísey Island. This is Iceland's second largest island, known for its bird life – you may see ptarmigan, arctic terns and eider ducks. 4-5 hours $80 per person

Wednesday, Day 4:

Lake Myvatn

You'll have a full day guided excursion to historic Goðafoss waterfall and Lake Myvatn, known for its rich bird life and extraordinary volcanic lava landscapes.

The broad waterfall rushing through shelving volcanic layers at Hraunfossar (which translates as Lava Waterfall).

Thursday Day 5:

Free day or Siglufjordur tour

Explore Akureyri on your own, go hiking or on a riding tour which can be booked locally, or join an optional day excursion to Siglufjörður.

Tour option: It's a very pretty drive along fjords and through tunnels to Iceland's most northern town, Siglufjörður. It's in quite a dramatic setting, and has been known over the years as Iceland's herring capital 8 hours $130 per person .

Friday, Day 6:

Husavik, Asbyrgi and Dettifoss

North along Eyjafjörður then east to Husavik, a pretty little town which is the whale watching capital of Iceland . You can join a whale watching cruise or visit the town some of the many museums. In the afternoon you'll travel to Jökulsárgljúfur National Park, and visit the horseshoe shaped canyon of Asbyrgi and Dettifoss, Europe's most powerful waterfall.

Tour option: take a 2-hour whale-watching cruise with North Sailing (weather permitting) About $80 p/p

Saturday, Day 7:

The Kjölur Highland Road.

Drive through history via the Kjölur Route. This ancient interior track has taken travelers from north to south, and south to north, between the glaciers Langjökull and Hofsjökull for centuries. It's much more comfortable in today's modern coaches, but the vast desert landscape remains unchanged. You'll have a chance to soak in the hot springs of Hveravellir, as have other outlaws in Iceland's past. You'll be in the south for the next 6 nights.

These tours (as is common with adventure touring everywhere) are subject to the guides assessment of conditions – if conditions aren't suited for a particular activity the itinerary may be rearranged, as traveler safety always comes first. Optional tour prices are subject to change.

Sunday, Day 8:

You'll return to Reykjavik

Back to Reykjavik for the last night's stay and a change to check out its legendary "Saturday Night". Or just get a fine meal and remember recent past days.

Monday, Day 9:

Leave for Home

You'll have a voucher for the Flybus to the airport and in the hours 'til it leaves you can look at the little list of some other options for you last hours in Iceland before you go.

This is Glaumbaer. It has a place in world history and is very well preserved as an Icelandic icon.
